

name, matric BN5205 Assignment 1 Question 2

The solution obtained contains rapidly changing slopes starting at the point where stimulus current is applied ( $t = 50ms$ ). content... content... content... content... content... content... content... content... content... content... content... content... content... content... content... content... content...